13. What is the name of the author of the book? Gaston Louis Alfred Leroux

OPINION: Did you like the story? Why?

From my point of view, I found the story very interesting, original, and unpredictable, because you can't guess what might happen next. I find very interesting that the author turned Parisian opera into literary history. The end is very unexpected and romantic and give to the reader more interest into the story.

What I like the most is the part went Erik puts Christine to choose between her freedom and the life of Raoul, and she tells the ghost that she prefers for Raoul to live and lose her freedom. When Erik heard Christine's response realizes how much she loves Raoul and lets them go and Erik realizes that love cannot be forced.
